Gave Well Attended Hallowe'en Even

Woman's club gave the first large gance of the season in the form of a Hallowe'en social which was a very enjoyable affair throughout the sixteen numbers, with extras that made up the programme.

The dance began at 9 and was over at midnight, the programme including a selection of the popular music which was rendered by Drew's orchestra.

At the intermission a particularly pleasing feature was introduced in a soprano solo. A little Bit of Heaven sung by Miss May Pounch, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Elizabeth Geary Danihy. Miss Pounch sang in fine voice and with feeling expression and was insistently applauded for an encore, for which she gave Mother McCree, singing again to the great acceptance of her hearers.

Mrs. J. B. Shannon was chairman of the committee in charge of the social, with these assistants: Mrs. M. H. Donohue, Mrs. J. R. McNamara, Mrs. M. V. Murphy, Mrs. Joseph Canty, Mrs. R. M. Powers, Mrs. R. Riley, Mrs. M. Sullivan, Mrs. George P. Madden, Mrs. James Maloney, Mrs. Daniel Shields, Mrs. Nelson Disco, Mrs. D. T. Shea, Mrs. A. J. Wholey and Mrs. George W. Mansfield.

Mrs. Hiram R. Prentice.

Norwich relatives and friends were shocked on Friday to learn of the sudden death of Josephine, wife of Hiram R. Prentice, which occurred that morning at their home in Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Prentice were former residents of this city, where Mr. Prentice conducted the Prentice Eurniture company with a store on Franklin street. They have lived for a number of years past in Brooklyn. Mr. Prentice survives his wife.

The most unique display is that shown in the window of the Monipun. In the center of the window is a miniatura fountain the sides of which are formed of vegetables of various kinds. Cabbages, carrots, radishes, cauliflower, etc. are attractively grouped and the tiny spray of water serves to keep the vegetables fresh. Thirty-two kinds of vegetables fresh. Thirty-two kinds of vegetables beckground fruits of all kinds are seen and the display is attractively trimmed with autumn follage while the whole is softly lighted by electric bulbs covered with red paper. The window display is the result of the efforts of Herbert Ring who was assisted by Eugane Sabourin.

Another window that attracts unitsual attention is the hardware window at the right of the entrance is a black and yellow arch with the words, Philadelphia Made Hardware, and just above this appear the words, Merchanis Week," in large letters. Is Given Two Weeks in House

Correction. Boston, Oct. 22.—Stephen J. Torre, who has an autemobile repair shop in North Cambridge, was given two weeks in the house of correction today by Judge Almy of the Cambridge district court, because, according to the evidence, he left an injured man in the road, and the man died later. The court said that a man who runs away and leaves anybody suffering deserves less comsideration than a man who drives when he is intoxicated.

An unusual circumstance in this case is that the injured man, Jerome F. O'Sullivan, was hit on Massachusetts avenue near Chauncey street, in September, 1912. He sustained a broken thigh and one of his legs had to be amputated, and he died in April of this year. Torre was not apprehended for three years after the accident, but through the efforts of Capt. P. J. Hurley, his identity as the man whose car hit O'Sullivan was at length established. Boston, Oct. 22.-Stephen J. Torre,

Apple Picker's Romance.

Sidney Bull, an apple picker at the Yaggy farm near Hutchinson, was playing for a dance for his comrades the other night. Mrs. Yaggy heard the music and sent for him. She looked at his fiddle and found it to be a Guarnieri, worth $1,500. She asked him if he knew what it was worth, and he said he did. He proved to be the son of a very rich man of Colorado, a lad who graduated from the Boston Conservatory of Music. He was simply going about to make his own living as an apple picker because he probably couldn't make a living at music; It is the first known romance among that growing class of people in Kansas—the apple pickers.—Exchange. As for the daily papers, it is hardly at any an evaggeration to say that they publish nothing that does not directly or indirectly relate to the war. Here and there is a paragraph or two that it is not fair to classify as relating to the war, but it is consequently in an out-of-the-way corner, as if it were a mere space-filler. The small ads continue their stories of war's effects. Here are three from a single issue of the Times:
